

Red-headed Vulture

Red-headed Vultures are Old World birds that live in parts of Asia. Their bare heads are bright red, as are their legs and feet. The body plumage is dark to black, with white patches across the breast. Males have light yellow eyes, while females have dark brown eyes.