The King Vulture is a New World species that lives in parts of Central and South America. As a scavenger, vultures play an important role in helping to keep the environment clean.

Connect the dots to complete the King Vulture. These birds have an interesting look -- you can have fun coloring in the finished image to make your own cute King Vulture picture!