

Palm-nut Vulture

The Palm-nut Vulture is an Old World species that lives in sub-Saharan Africa. The adult plumage is a striking contrast of black and white. The bare face is orange-red and the hooked bill is greyish. The legs and feet are pink. Males and females look alike.

